FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

BRANDT WELCOMES PRECISION TANK & EQUIPMENT COMPANY TO THE #31 AG CAR

The #31 BRANDT Chevrolet to represent agriculture in the NASCAR Nationwide Series

SPRINGFIELD, IL (February 16, 2012) – BRANDT announced today Precision Tank & Equipment Company will join the No. 31 BRANDT Chevrolet, driven by championship contender Justin Allgaier. Precision Tank and Equipment (PT&E) is the first to join BRANDT as part of effort to represent the various aspects of agriculture through its marketing initiative in the NASCAR Nationwide Series. PT&E is a leader in agriculture, fire, municipal and vacuum related tank equipment using fiberglass, stainless steel and mild steel materials.

In 2012, BRANDT will work with other agricultural organizations to put an “all agriculture” car on the track, helping to spotlight the hard work and dedication that makes agriculture a leading global industry.

BRANDT President and CEO, Rick C. Brandt, is thrilled to have Precision Tank & Equipment as part of the #31 Ag Car for the 2012 season.

“We are very excited to have another leading agriculture company join our team to represent agriculture on one of the largest sports stages in the world. PT&E represents quality products and strong business ethics, which make them the premier tank supplier in the Midwest.”

For over 40 years PT&E has led the way as an innovative supplier of tanks, applicators and specialized equipment for agribusiness, fire protection, civic, petroleum and industrial needs.

“Precision Tank & Equipment Co. is proud to join BRANDT on the No. 31 Ag Car as part of the NASCAR Nationwide Series”, says David Hemming, CEO of PT&E. “PT&E appreciates our strong ag customer base throughout the US and realizes NASCAR is a popular sport to this audience. By joining BRANDT in this exciting endeavor, we further solidify our strong commitment to the agriculture industry. We look forward to the 2012 racing season!”
